

Rock pools are often found at coasts. They are bowl-shaped hollows which hold sea water when the tide goes out. They contain lots of animals and plants that are adapted to living in this environment.

Find out about some animals and plants that live in rock pools. Then, create your own drawing or model of a rock pool. For example:

I would love to see pictures of your rock pools! Please send them to the school office email 😊